

INTRODUCING
SERVING U CORPORATE TEAMBUILDING
 FOR THE GREATER GOOD.

This Corporate Teambuilding Event Brings a Lot More to the Table.

A company is only as strong as the teams that run it. Serving U brings together key members of your executive and departmental teams in an exciting, dynamic way—and creates an experience that they will remember and share for years to come.

During this one-day community service workshop held at our newly renovated regional distribution center, teams of 5 to 40 people work together, communicate, plan, solve logistical problems, and build communication skills. Unlike other corporate workshops, Serving U also unites your people around a tangible result: while honing your teamwork skills, you'll also be feeding thousands of people across North Texas. This larger purpose encourages people to put aside differences, collaborate, and work together to achieve a worthwhile goal.

It's a fun, memorable way to give something back to the community today—and walk away with tangible benefits that will serve your company for years to come.

Help a Worthwhile Cause. Namely, Your Company.

Since 1982, the North Texas Food Bank has proudly served our region by providing meals for those in need.

Now, we're pleased to announce that we've found a new way to serve our region. Serving U is a one-day corporate teambuilding workshop that provides a unique way to build better teamwork, closer communication, and stronger bonds among your personnel. It's a great way to come together for a day to serve others—and in the process, serve yourself.

“This great exercise combined teamwork, fun, caring hearts, and productivity—elements of Southwest’s culture. Our team prepared 17,500 meals in one day!”
 — Debra Benton, Director of Community Relations
 Southwest Airlines

“We’ve attended several teambuilding activities before, but none of them offered the value and results that this one did.”
 — Steve Chase
